1. Background:

The ultimate goal of access to better health to all in urban areas needs an effective management structure comprising of the elected representative, frontline workers of various allied department, civil society organizations, and community based organizations etc.

In the urban areas, ward is the lowest administrative and governance unit in a city/town for planning, monitoring and management of different programs/schemes/services. Each ward is politically represented by an elected member like Ward Corporator/Ward councilor. The management structure at the Ward level will envisage as a facilitating body for health, water, sanitation, hygiene and nutrition etc. related programs by various departments.

Village Health & Sanitation Committee (VHSC) is known as Gaon Kalyan Samiti (GKS) in the state of Odisha. GKS have been functional at the revenue village level as a community level platform to address local health and its determinants issues through participatory community action. In Odisha, GKS plays an important role to identify the local health, water, sanitation, hygiene and nutrition issues and take suitable measures to solve the same.

Keeping the experience in the rural part thorough GKS, it is proposed to extend the similar model in the urban areas of the state in the name of Ward Kalyan Samiti (WKS) to oversee Health, Sanitation, Water and Nutrition activities/program in the urban areas of the state.

The Ward in the urban area is the actual convergence and linkage points of all programs/persons. It establishes linkage between service provider and community by virtue of their rights through policy level influence for decision making. It is proposed to constitute the Ward Kalyan Samiti (WKS) at ward level under the urban local bodies (ULBs).
2. Constitution of the Samiti:
